

Case Study - Employee retention for a corporation

Definition of the issue:

The number of employees in the corporation has been decreased. So the corporation requires newer employees that meet the standards.

Objectives/Goals:

1. To hire employees with decreased recruitment costs.
2. Improving employees' satisfaction with the company's work culture.
3. Arrange proper Interviews to hire better employees.

Constraints/Problems:

1. Irregular and unplanned interviews
2. Extremely low or high number of candidates applying
3. Unknown reasons for why some employees resign from the company.

Solutions:

1. Survey and feedback about conditions (work-life balance, expectations, etc).
2. Developing great managers for our employees.
3. Provide opportunities for growth (programs, recognition, training).
4. Predict future turnover from past results.

Reference:

[1] Oliver Lee Bateman, Ph.D. <https://blog.perceptyx.com/how-to-reduce-employee-turnover>